This report represents the work of dozens of people who contribute to the Soil and Groundwater Remediation Project: planners, schedulers, samplers, laboratory technicians, data management staff, scientists, editors, and graphics staff.

We greatly appreciate the expertise of our technical editor, Launa Morasch. Her contributions help make the report more consistent and intelligible... not an easy task with such a large team of scientist-authors.

The graphics and production team included Angela Corbett, John McDonald, Chris Newbill, Julie Rediker, JoAnne Rieger, and Wally Williams. JoAnne Rieger also retrieved and formatted data for maps and tables. We are grateful for their willingness to put in long hours and their ability to maintain a healthy sense of humor when it was most needed.

Thanks also to the many reviewers whose comments and suggestions helped us improve this report.
