

GRP celebrates safety

Almost 200 employees of Fluor Hanford's Groundwater Remediation Project (GRP) gathered on May 19 to celebrate a safety achievement – working 12 consecutive months without an OSHA-recordable injury. The GRP employees enjoyed a celebratory meal and signed their “one year, injury-free” commemorative poster. A story about the achievement can be found in the May 2 edition of FYI, <http://apweb02.rl.gov/phmc/phmcweb/index.cfm?PageNum=63>. OSHA is the U.S. Department of Labor's Occupational Safety and Health Administration, formed to assure the safety and health of America's workers. ■

Karen Welsh

