

Mission Support Alliance Presents, Following up on a Solicitation.

If you're interested in responding to one of Mission Support Alliances current solicitations that's posted out on the website please contact the contracting officer who's directly associated with that posting. The contracting officers contact information can be found within the solicitation as well as a description of the product or service that's being requested.

Once you've made initial contact with the contracting officer, regarding your interest on a current solicitation it is recommended that you retain their contact information to follow up on the status of the contract. Please make sure that when you are following up on the current status, that you provide detailed information regarding the solicitation to the contracting officer for reference.
