Letters

Employees are invited to write letters of general interest on work-related topics. Anonymous letters will not be printed. We reserve the right to edit letters or not to accept letters for publication. Send your letters to the Reach, B3-30, or to *Hanford Reach on e-mail. Include your name, company, work group and location. Opinions expressed are those of the author and not of DOE-RL, ORP or their contractors.

Thank you

My family and I would like to extend our deepest appreciation to all our friends and to my co-workers who contributed personal-time-bank hours and raised funds to help my family and me through the difficult times last year. I would also like to thank the managers at Fluor Hanford and CH2M HILL for their utmost cooperation. All the support we received was heartfelt.

I could not have survived the painful and heart-breaking ordeal of losing my wife without all of your caring support and your generosity. Without a doubt, this is the finest group of people I have ever had the privilege to work with. I hope in the future I am able to repay your generosity. God bless all of you and thank you so much again.

William Johnson
Fluor Hanford

News for all employees needed

I am so sorry! Sorry to learn that the only Hanford Site-wide communications vehicle is ceasing publication. I applaud the contractors for producing separate “newsletters” for their employees. However, as an employee and someone who has four generations of family living within spitting distance of the site, I’m concerned about overall Hanford Site cleanup.

You have done a great job in bringing Hanford news to site employees (regardless of the company they worked for) and you will be missed. Au revoir.

Susan Leckband
Fluor Hanford

Why not publish electronically?

I hate to see the Hanford Reach no longer available. How do we know what is going on with the rest of the site? Why can’t the Hanford Reach be published and available electronically and just do away with the paper version?

Just my two-cents worth — thank you for all your years of service.

Teresa Schlotman
Pacific Northwest
National Laboratory

Dismayed

I read with some dismay that the Reach will be ceasing publication. As the Hanford Site has become more and more divided among Department of Energy offices and contractors, the Reach was one of the few places where employees could obtain site-wide information, lessons learned and other valuable information. In the future we’ll have to rely on informal networks to get such information, not always the most reliable method.

Rick Engelmann
Fluor Hanford

Loss of connectivity

Sorry to hear you’ll be ending publication soon. Hanford is fragmented with multiple contractors, missions and priorities. The individual contractor publications, largely parochial in nature and rah-rah in spirit, in sum cannot attain what the Reach has provided.

We work best when a feeling of community of people exists, within the framework of site integration. For example, when I read of personal-time-bank transfers, it lets me know who’s sick and needs comfort. When I read of site progress, I’m reminded of the people I know who pulled it off. When I read of site struggles, I’m reminded how I fit in and can contribute to the turnaround. The Reach provides all this without regard for what company is involved.

Without the Reach pulling these and many other common aspects together for us, I’m afraid we’ll lose essential bits of connectivity and effectiveness.

Congratulations on a job well done. I am looking forward to the return of the Reach.

Thomas Tomaszewski
CH2M HILL Hanford Group

A waste of time, effort

I think that getting rid of the Hanford Reach would be a terrible waste of time and effort. With the other contractors printing their own newsletters, we will have to read and go through all the newsletters on site. As of today, I only need to go to one source for Hanford Site information. Right now, for example, if you are in a vanpool and want to advertise that you need more riders, you only have to go to the Reach. Who knows how many publications you will have to contact for future advertisements?

Please don’t let a good newspaper die. Also think of the additional cost each contractor must incur, not to mention the extra expense of paper.

Lyle Zeigler

ScopeWriter training offered October through March

The Supply Chain Operations and Support organization will hold a series of hands-on training sessions for the ScopeWriter application software beginning in October and ending in March. ScopeWriter application software is available to Fluor Hanford and CH2M HILL employees to assist them in preparing consistent and complete statements of work for subcontracted services.

Upon completion of the training, attendees will know the elements of a technically adequate statement of work, and how to use these elements to create a first-draft document in MS Word using the ScopeWriter application software.

The training will be offered from 7:30 to 10 a.m. in room 121 of 2430 Stevens Center on the following dates: Oct. 15, Oct. 29, Nov. 12, Dec. 3, Dec. 17, Jan. 7, Jan. 21, Feb. 4, Feb. 18, March 4, March 17 and March 31. Register for this training by sending an e-mail message stating your preferred training date to Peter_D_Braun@rl.gov, or call Braun at 376-3747.

October is Fire Prevention Month at Hanford

This year, the national recognition of Fire Prevention Week is Oct. 5-11. But at Hanford, we recognize the entire month of October as Fire Prevention Month. This year's theme, "Get Out – Stay Out," focuses on the importance of escape plans, designated meeting areas and not going back into the fire to retrieve anything.

Throughout October, Hanford Fire Department fire-fighters are available to share fire-safety information with Hanford employees. Work groups looking for safety-meeting topics in October may contact Martha Rice, 373-3955, to schedule presentations on fire safety. ♦
