REMEMBERING THE OLD DAYS:

The eighth annual reunion was held June 1 and 2 for former employees of N Reactor, the 100N and 100K Areas, the 300 Area Fuels operations and other organizations formerly associated with N Reactor. About 110 people — many now retired — attended an evening gathering, and some enjoyed a picnic the following day. “There was a lot of reminiscing,” said Sherry Foreman of Fluor Hanford. HONORED CBC ALUMNA: Karen Welsh of Fluor Hanford, who earned her bachelor’s degree last month from the Tri-Cities campus of Washington State University, also received honors from Columbia Basin College. CBC President Lee Thornton, right, surprised Welsh in a private ceremony by naming her CBC Alumnus of the Year for 2001. Welsh’s degree was the culmination of many years of full-time work, full-time parenting and part-time study at CBC and WSU. She delivered an inspiring speech to this year’s CBC grads on June 10.
